PROJECT

Title | Doctor Insulin

Description | Hyper-glycaemia is a condition with an excess of glucose in the blood stream and this disease is mainly due to lack of insulin. Hence, insulin has to be given externally as daily injections. So, we are developing android application which not only monitors the insulin titration levels but also calculates the amount of insulin that should be given for each increase in sugar above target. This application helps in diagnosing insulin level at home rather than frequently consulting doctor.
